Urgent Plea Is Cabled to Rio Not to Stand in Way of Compromise.

Geneva, March 15 (By A. P.) .-Brazil held the key to the League of Nations crisis tonight. With amazing swiftness the focus of interest of the big political drama being enacted at Geneva has shifted from Warsaw to Rio Janeiro, and apparently the only obstacle impeding solution of the council controversy is Brazil's insistence that she will vote against Germany for election to the league, and what is bureau-ridden that the liberties of vastly more important, against Gerthe people have been put into the many for a permanent seat in the council.

Treasury officials estimated that the first quarterly receipt of taxes would total approximately $400,000,000, which is about $80,000,-000 less than the first quarterly receipts for 1925.

New Ruling Helpful.

The slowness in the returns was attributed to the fact that many persons had taken advantage of the new ruling of Secretary Mellon, permitting persons and corpora-tions having incomes over $5,000 o file tentative returns.

Despite the fact that tentative returns are allowed, one-fourth of the taxes must accompany the return of the estimated tax. A complete return must be made in 60 days, however. This ruling was promulgated by Secretary Mellon because the new revenue law has been in effect only three weeks and some confusion was expected in the filing of returns.

Postoffice Is Used.

Many persons took advantage of the postoffice in sending in their returns, postoffices throughout the country reporting heavy mails to the district collectors.

Approximately 2,000,000 persons less than the number last year made returns, it was believed. This was due to the fact that increases in personal exemptions from $1,000 to $1,500 for single persons and from $2,500 to $3,500 for married persons had been made under the in Injunction Case by Navy Commander.

For the first time since he took office J. Raymond McCarl, comptroller general of the United States, finds himself checked by the highest court in the land—the United States Supreme Court, which yesterday refused his demand for a review of the injunction case brought by Com-mander John F. Cox, U. S. N. This was the first case in which

Mr. McCarl's authority to deduct 20 per cent of the pay of a naval officer to reimburse the government for alleged erroneous allowances for dependents, was questioned.

The Court of Appeals held that McCarl was in error and by inference.

Carl was in error and by inference accused the comptroller of exercis-ing autocratic and arbitrary power. Mr. McCarl appealed from that rul-

Insull Once Suspected Of 60-Cent Stamp Theft

Chicago, March 15 (By A. P.). Samuel Insull, noted public utility magnate, who manages more than $1,000,000,000 in capital, once was suspected of petty thievery.

It happened 50 years ago, when, as an office boy in London at $1.25 a week, he was suspected of having stolen 60 cents worth of stamps.

He told the story in trying to address before the Boys Growing to Manhood club. "Whatever you do, do it thoroughly," and "help the other fellow and play straight."

By assisting the junior partner in work after hours, Mr. Insull said he had gained that official's regard. When the stamps were missed, fingers were pointed at young Insull as the newest employee. The junior partner employed a detective and the

Flonzaley Quartet NATIONAL THEATER

THE world's greatest composers have lavished their genius upon the production of chamber music-especially string quartets, two violins, viola and cello. Adolfo Betti, Alfred Pochon, Nicholas Moldavan and Iwan d'Archambeau, the members of the Flonzaley Quartet, are famous in American musical circles for their devotion to artistic ideals and the perfection of their music. Yet all the delicacy, all the marvelous harmonies of their ensemble, are reproduced with absolute fidelity by the new Orthophonic Victrola. Go to any dealer in Victor products and hear the Flonzaley Quartet Records. Ask especially for "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes" (626).

(By the Associated Press.) Draft of a bill to set up Federal machinery to handle surplus crops was completed vesterday by a farm relief delegation from middle Western States, and it probably will be submitted to the House agriculture committee today.

The measure would establish Federal farm board with authority to contract for the sale of any surplus at a just and reasonable price. To pay for any losses incurred by for information concerning negotiaguaranteeing such a price, an equalization fee would be paid by the producers of each of the four products designated as basic agri-cultural commodities—wheat, cotton, cattle and hogs.

Corn Embargo Provided.

The twelve members of the board, one from each Federal land bank district, would be appointed by the President from a list of eligibles presented by a farm advisory council, elected by farmers' organi-zations. As far as practicable, crops would be marketed by the co-pperative associations.

A MONG other activities, the commission on training camp activities was charged with moral conditions in camp and adjoining communities. Camp Meade never offered any moral problems within its limits, but on one occasion Mr. Fosdick thought it did. It all came about through the decision to employ female operators at the camp switchboard after a trial with male operators had proved unsatisfactory. Forestalling possible criticism I had caused the building housing the telephone exchange to be inclosed in a barb wire stockade and a special night and day sentry posted to prevent any unauthorized entrance. A matron was placed in charge of the operators and a closed wagon provided to carry them to and from the trolley station. When Mr. Fosdick called the attention of the Secretary of War to the presence of women in called the attention of the Secretary of War to the presence of women in Camp Meade, I was able to explain their condition of virtual incarceration and heard nothing more of the matter. The superiority of women to men in operating switchboards is so well recognized that they were employed in France for this work.

ployed in France for this work.

By December the construction work on all main essentials of the camp had been completed and the camp fully organized. Where a few months before there had been only a thinly settled farm region with a few scattered farm houses there now stood a completed city with over 1,300 buildings housing over 40,-1000 men, a city with concrete roads, a daily water supply of 3,000,000 gallons, sewage disposal, electric light and power service, telephones, a laundry and a theater. A target range had been built and the men were receiving their first taste of target practice. The arrival of five British officers under Maj. Lieben-rood, and an equal number of French officers under Capt. Castel, with a complement of noncommissioned officers from each country, gave a fresh impetus to training, more particularly in the specialties of trench warfare.

NCE paint walls and woodwork with Barreled Sunlight, and you are through painting for years!

As smooth as the surface of satin, this lustrous paint can't hold dirt. The worst smudges are easily wiped off with a damp cloth. And washing does not injure the paint.

Comparable only to the finest enamel for beauty, Barreled Sunlight costs less, is easy to apply, and requires fewer coats. When used in the pure white it is guaranteed to remain white longer than any gloss paint or enamel, domestic or foreign, applied under the same conditions.

Sold in cans from 1/2 pint to 5 gallons. Where more than one coat is to be used, apply Barreled Sunlight Undercoat first.

FACTS ABOUT SUGAR.

There are indications that the item of sugar may be the one around which the tariff commission investigators may buzz.

For years prior to 1897 the average annual consumption of sugar in the United States was about 7,000,000,000 pounds. Most of it was imported; and approximately $150,000,000 of American money went out of the country in 1897 to pay for imported sugar.

It was then deemed wise to encourage the American production of sugar, both cane and beet. The result was satisfactory; and the production of American sugar increased. The price of sugar remained around 4 and 5 cents per pound until the world war, when it advanced rapidly.

Production of American sugar was between one and two billion pounds annually until about 1912, when it increased to four billion pounds. During the war it increased to five and a half billion pounds. Last year it was approximately the same. However, wholesale and retail prices have declined since the war.

In 1924 and 1925 the domestic consumption of sugar was approximately 16,000,000,000 pounds each year. Approximately one-third comes from foreign countries, one-third from American possessions and the remaining onethird from domestic sources-cane and beet. Most of the domestic refined, or household, sugar is imported from Cuba in the raw state and prepared for domestic use in the refineries of the United States.

Confectionery manufacturers, chocolate factories and ice cream factories consume approximately two billion pounds of sugar every

The purpose of the increase in the import duty of raw and granulated sugar in 1921 and 1922 was to promote and encourage the American or domestic production of that article. Imports of sugar come largely from Cuba, where American refining companies have plantations. In 1924 and 1925 about 90 per cent of the sugar imported was from Cuba. This enters the United States at a discount of 20 per cent under the regular duty because of reciprocity.

American production increased in 1924 and 1925 over 1923. At the same time the retail price of sugar declined in those years. The American people paid less per pound for their sugar in 1925 than they did in 1924.

A petition was presented to the tariff commission many months ago for a reduction in the import duty on sugar, which meant a reduction in the duty on the largest source of supply from foreign countries-namely, Cuba. It was alleged, and not denied, that this proposed reduction in the duty would not benefit the benefit of the American refiners, who imported more than six billion pounds of raw sugar from Cuba every year. The commission recommended a reduction in the duty. The President did not approve the recommendation.

Was the President justified or not? That is

HOME ASSURED TO VETERANS.

For the last five years the old Naval hospital on the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Eighth street southeast has been under lease to an association of veterans of the wars in which the United States has been engaged during the last 65 years. At the outset the association's activities were confined to caring for the temporary needs of members of the G. A. R. during their stay in Washington, but some five years ago the scope of these activities was extended to embrace veterans of the Spanish war and the world war.

Not long ago Secretary Wilbur sent to Congress a list of the properties owned by the navy for which there is no further use, with the suggestion that the department be given authority to sell all such unnecessary real estota In accordance with the suggestion bill with that object in view was introduced in the House by Mr. Magee, of Pennsylvania. who is a member of the committee on naval affairs. Before the subcommittee to which it was referred had an opportunity to pass upon the measure the attention of Capt. Paul J. McGahan, a member of the American Legion, was attracted to it, and the discovery was made that the old Naval hospital was included in the list of lands recommended to be sold. This meant that the "Temporary Home for Union Ex-Soldiers, Sailors and Marines and Vaterans of Other Wars' was threatened with the probability that its "home" would be sold

Capt. McGahan brought his guns to bear on the Navy Department, and very soon convinced the Secretary that the "temporary home" ought not to be disturbed. The Secretary agreed that if Congress showed a willingness to permit the veterans to remain he would acquiesce. The naval committee favors the veterans and accordingly the bill as it will be reported this week authorizes the Navy Department to enter into a lease for a period of fifteen years at $1 a year, "notwithstanding the law which limits such leases to 'not more than five years.' "

The home is available to veterans tempo rarily in Washington for periods of ten days at and marines were housed and fed there. The cost of maintenance is borne by the G. A. R., the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Veterans of the War with Spain and the American Legion jointly together with appropriations carried in the District bill, which amounted to $6,000 for the current year. The president of the home is Byron W. Bonney, who was employed in the government printing office for many years and is a veteran of the civil war. Mr. Bonney is 84 years old.

COAL AND CONGRESS.

With Congress laying plans for adjournment in May, in order to enable members to engage in the campaign, it is too much to expect that much consideration will be given to legislation proposed yesterday by Representative Jacobstein, of New York, looking to governmental regulations of the hard and soft coal industries. The anthracite strike has been settled on terms which, on paper, give some assurance of continued peace for a period of five years. But there is no certainty about it. In discussing his bill Mr. Jacobstein said that the anthracite strike ended in a truce and not a permanent settlement, and that the public remains unprotected in the event of another collapse. He pointed out that despite the settlement the price of anthracite had advanced in some communities, even though no wage increase had been granted.

"The soft coal situation has dynamite in it." Mr. Jacobstein said. "The famous Jacksonville agreement expires March 31, 1927, and if no legislation is passed at this session of Congress, and none can be expected at the succeeding short session, a conflict in the soft coal industry would find the government helpless again. This might spell disaster to many of our industries and transportation systems." There is much truth in the New York member's statement. There is no certainty that with the expiration of the Jacksonville agreement the country will not be faced again with a situation similar to that through which the anthracite industry has just passed. President Coolidge has urged coal legislation by Congress. He favors action along the lines recommended by the Federal fact-finding commission. No public hearings have been held by either Senate or House, and there is no probability that any action will be taken. Yet, as Mr. Jacobstein says, "Congress has a specific responsibility in the matter. The public will and should hold Congress responsible in the event that in a future emergency the President is again without authority and without specific duty to act."

TARIFF COMMISSION A JOKE.

The President is a high tariff man The only use he has made of the flexible tariff is to bend duties upward. He has the appointing power, and he has taken pains to make the commission highly protectionist. The President doesn't care how much the commission investigates, provided it reaches the conclusion that the duty ought to be higher. The commission thought otherwise about sugar, and the President returned its report to the commission and replaced a mild protectionist by the sort of protectionist he is There is no remedy for this sort of thing except a Democratic President .-Philadelphia Record.

Then low tariff men would be appointed and the duties would be bent downward - all strictly in accordance with the findings of the "fact-finding" commission!

The tariff commission is a costly joke. It should be abolished. Congress should quit the silly pretense that the tariff is not a political

TEXAS REPUBLICANS.

If the Republican national committeeman of Texas, Mr. Creager, has any real ground for his optimistic belief that there is a chance of electing a Republican governor in Texas this year, he is surely not improving it by engaging in a controversy with the lone Republican member of Congress from that State. It may be that the G. O. P. organization in the Lone Star State is "functioning in 241 counties out of a total of 254, where five years ago there the American consumers of sugar, but was for were less than 40;" that there are 150 Repubicans in major county and district offices, and that in 1924 the Republicans polled for their candidate for governor enough votes to have elected the governor in any preceding year, but the fact remains that the Democrats won, and the chances are that the Democrats will continue to poll enough votes in future elections to insure a victory. Texas is a Democratic State, and it will take more of a Republican emigration there than has taken place in Florida to give the Republicans a chance. Indeed, it is far more likely that the latter State will be turned over to the Republicans than that Texas will.

It was not so many years ago that Cecil Lyons, friend and supporter of President Roosevelt, who was the Texas member of the Republican national committee, vigorously proclaimed that his party was gaining ground so rapidly that it would be only a few years until Texas would be a Republican State. But Mr. Lyons is dead and gone and Texas continues to be safely Democratic. Mr. Creager is to be admired for his enthusiasm, but it is hard to understand how he can hope to gain anything for the Republicans in Texas by stirring up a factional row that is bound to create discord.

RAIL VS. WATER.

The bill now before the Senate to amend section 4 of the interstate commerce act is the old struggle between railroad and water com munication within the territory of the United States. Here are the main points of the supporters of water communication: The government has spent more than $1.

250,000,000 for river and harbor improvements and more than $500,000,000 on the Panama canal: if section 4 of the interstate act remains, it may be employed to destroy water transportation on inland waterways scattered throughout the West, impair the Panama canal as a transportation route, destroy coastwise merchant marine, discriminate between interior and port cities, and injure the whole West and South so far as the interior communities are concerned. It is asserted that section 4 of the act permits the Interstate Commerce Commission to promote or destroy entire communities by crippling water communica-

There is no evidence that the Interstate Commerce Commission has deliberately done what it is said the commission can do. If there is to be any Federal regulation of the railroads of the country, there must be discretion lodged somewhere. Congress can not regulate or fix a time. Last year 1,306 former soldiers, sailors | rates. Congress has laid down the broad principles and gives the commission power and au thority to work out the details.

There is no evidence that the commission de liberately undertakes to cripple or destroy water communication. Charges of improper influences are made frequently; but there is no proof of them. These charges are a reflection upon the integrity of the Interstate Commercia

Obviously, water rates as a rule can be lower than rail rates between two given points Railroads can not compete with water; and if the investment in railroads is to be preserved, there should be some Federal agency to permit the railroads to obtain a fair share of the busi-

This whole matter is a question of equalizing, as far as possible, the natural advantages and disadvantages between rail and water routes. There is no disposition in the commission or Congress to take unfair advantage of any section or any method of transportation.

PROTECTING THE CANAL.

The War Department appropriation bill carries an item of $400,000 for the construction of seacoast batteries in the Canal Zone for the protection of the Panama canal. On the Pacific side the War Department has been erecting four 16-inch gun batteries. These guns are the last word in heavy artillery, with a range which is certainly equal to and prob. ably excelling that of any other gun. To build the emplacements of the four guns with their magazines and all machinery to operate them will cost something like $1,100,000. The four guns are ready, and two are in improvised emplacements. Three of the carriages to support the four guns are ready and the fourth is being manufactured.

The garrison at the canal is composed of 474 officers and 8,628 enlisted men. The War Department considers this altogether too small; but Congress seems indisposed to furnish the money for a larger garrison.

The nature of the canal defenses against air attacks is not disclosed, but presumably the War Department is providing a suitable air The big guns are capable of standing off a naval force, but they are not effective against an air bombardment.

BOOTLEGGERS' TAXES.

This is a hard world, particularly for the free-born American who insists upon having his booze in spite of the Volstead act. The 200 haughty residents of Washington who compose the "bootleggers' list" said to be filed away in the office of Traffic Director Eldridge. are demanding as much for a bottle of their poisonous concoctions as the legitimate dealer in the old days asked for a case of the real stuff. It is reported by those who patronize these gentry that there is a combination among them "in restraint of trade." Yet the Federal Trade Commission, so far as its docket divulges, has not started proceedings against them under the Sherman antitrust law or the Clayton act.

Now it is announced that Gen. Andrews is determined to make the fraternity come across with contributions to the extent of $6.40 per gallon in the way of tax on "moonshine." Of course the 200 bootleggers will pass this cost up to the consumer; which is why this is a hard world.

There is a possibility, however, Gen. Andrews may experience some difficulty in his efforts to collect the $6.40 per, if Director Eldridge should refuse to divulge the names on his little list.

Three shifts of plate printers and their helpers are engaged in the bureau of engraving and printing, and that beehive is operating 24 hours a day. This unusual activity is due to the necessity for the prompt production of bonds to supply the requirements of the refunding operations of Secretary Mellon. Treasury notes, bearing interest at the rate of 4% per cent, fell due on March 15. The amount of these notes was $617,000,000, and Secretary Mellon is replacing them with long-term bonds bearing interest at the rate of 3% per cent. It will not be necessary to float bonds to the full amount of the matured notes, and Mr. Mellon has therefore allotted only $494,000 000 to the investors who are willing to lend their funds to Uncle Sam at a rate of interest just 1 per cent under the rate which he has been paying on his short-term notes

Failing in this, because some intrepid soul threatened a lawsuit, the critics were adened a lawsuit, the critics were admitted. Before the curtain rose on the opening scene George Vivian, who directed the play, stepped under the proscenium arch and made a pathetic plea for mercy. His argument was this: "Ashes of Love" came not under the head of drama so much as it did of strict narrative —merely the story of a good girl gone to South Africa.

Less Said the Better.

Since this was the first time a member of the British nobility es-sayed a professional theatrical venture it might also be implied that common hospitality demanded at least the courtesy of silence. By the end of the first act the critics unanimously agreed with the speaker of the evening that the less said about "Ashes of Love" the better. Since some secrets, like murder, will out, it might be well to state here that the camp followers of the Countess of Catheart were not so much afraid of her play falling to register as they were of the count-ess herself suffering from stage fright. They know not their lady.

She is much better equipped as an actress than a playwright. Had she learned the latter role better she might have added a prologue

Quite a distinguish was on hand to witness the stage debut of the Countess of Catheart. There were members of the diplomatic, congressional and almost every other circle in Washington among those present with a scattering here and there of folk who come to theater with field glasses and scorecards. They were bent on counting the notches on the countess' cutlass.

hands of Earl Carroll—who saw its publicity value.

Not a bon-mot adorns the tale, unless it be the line: "Men always enjoy themselves, whether they're at a football match or a funeral. Watch what men do, and go them one better—especially when they're unfaithful." Needless to say, this is the advice of an old dowager, admirably played by Alison Skitworth—the observation of a woman who has seen all and knows all.

As a play, then, "Ashes of Love" is not anything to shake down the furnace about; nothing to call forth the shares of dear, dead, departed dramatic critics—not to mention live ones. So it will probably be let down lightly by the boys who must perforce do their duty when they see it. With any AMUSING SITUATIONS one else in the leading role save the Countess of Cathcart, without IN 'NOTHING BUT LIES' her publicity and the attendant curlosity, "Ashes of Love," as play, would last on the boards jus

London, March 15 (By A. P.) The Countess of Catheart's play "Ashes" was produced at the Prince of Wales theater tonight and proved a disappointment to the crowd which evidently expected something more of a sensational nature than was put on the stage. The censorship and the flance of the countess, Ralph Neale, who is said to have rewritten the play, had converted it into a harmless and uninteresting drama, which was so unconvincing that the rest-less audience frequently laughed and scenes supposed to be serious and particularly poked fun at the actor who eloped with the married heroine and was supposed to be the

It had been widely advertised that the censorship had especially insisted that the play should be freed of anything reflecting on

OR generations, people have established the older forms of trusts. These older forms provide for future conditions. Now, many people establish trusts that are to meet the conditions of today; that do not wait until some one dies before they render service.

These newer trusts go by various names. Some call them Living Trusts; others Voluntary Trusts. Our booklet "Of Immediate Trusts," tells what some of them are; it suggests the purposes which they may meet.

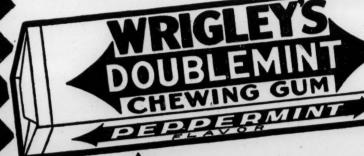

We invite you to call, or to write, for a copy of this booklet. We are sure that it tells of things which will interest you. It will answer questions which you may have asked yourself. It will suggest things which have not occurred

You cannot know too much about trusts. They have proved themselves so useful to those who have to carry the responsibilities of life; they have preserved so much property; and they have brought happiness to so many lives, that you should know all that is to be known about them. So write or call for the booklet.

TESTIFIES HUSBAND FLOGGED HER SON, 5. TO DEATH WITH STICK

Boy Succumbed in Tub, Baltimore Woman Says at Spouse's Trial.

LAD WHIPPED ON ASKING FOR BREAD, IT IS CHARGED

Mrs. Coursey, Herself Convicted, Files Motion for New Hearing.

Baltimore, Md., March 15 (By A. P.).—Mrs. Edna May Wright Coursey today for the second time flung at her husband in open court a charge of having beaten to death her 5-year-old son, Eldredge, Ralph T. Coursey, a trolley car conductor, is on trial before a bench of three judges in Baltimore county circuit court at Towson under a blanket indictment.

Herself convicted and awaiting Herself convicted and awaiting sentence for manslaughter in con-nection with the boy's death. Mrs. Coursey charged, between fits of weeping on the stand today, that Coursey habitually had flogged Eldredge with a double sewing machine strap and had beaten him with a small broomstick on February 5 and 6. Eldredge died February 6. A coroner's jury found he had come to his death by contusions resulting from beatings with convulsions as a contributing cause.

On the stand at her own trial last week, Mrs. Coursey repudiated before a jury a previous confession, which she testified she had signed in an attempt to shield her husband and under misrepresentation of the consequences to herself.

Coursey glared at his wife when she took the stand as the first prosecution witness, but kept his eyes lowered as she talked. Mrs. Coursey, delivering substantially the same testimony that she had given in her own defense last week, did not glance at him. She recounted that Courtney had flogged Eldredge with the small broomstick, which was presented in evidence when the boy was slow in getting nails from the cellar on the evening of February 5. Again on February 6, after an argument between Coursey and the boy at lunch, she sald, her husband, took Eldredge upstairs and administered a flogging which she did not see, but during which Eldredge "screamed and screamed." The boy became unconscious in the bathtub late that afternoon, she said, and was dead when she called in neighbors.

He was retired February 8, 1923.

During the Spanish war he served as lieutenant colonel of the First Alabama infantry and during the world war commanded the 181st brigade, 91st division, in the St. Mihiel, Meuse-Argonne and Ypres-Lys offensives, winning French, Belgian and Italian honors, the distinguished service medal for meritorious service at Foret de Hesse.

"Smoky Bob," Wildcat, Latest Gift to Coolidge

"Smoky Bob," from Sevier ounty, Tennessee, is to be a new resident of Washington. His ddress will be the National Zoological park and, if the advance notices of his coming are lived up to, he will be about the wildest of the wildcats that ever has reached the Capital.

He comes from the Great Smoky Mountain National park and was a gratefully accepted present to President Coolidge, who, however, refused to allow him to be made an addition to the White House menagerie. Instead he notified the donors to send him direct to the zoo, where he is expected to arrive probably today or tomorrow.

In the letter of gift it is emphasized that his birthplace is the "strongest Republican county" in the entire nation. At the last election Sevier county gave 442 votes for President Coolidge to 11 for John W. Davis and none at all for Robert M. La-Follette. Yet it is urged that this is not what "made the wildcat wild."

THE STORY THUS FAR.

It was somewhat dark inside the caravan, except now and again when a flash of lightning lit up every corner of it with piercing brilliancy. But as her eyes grew accustomed to the dusk, and helped by those intermittent flashes of lightning, Patricia gathered by degrees an impression of the interior—of a tiny room, the walls lined with pitch pine, of cupboards skillfully arranged to occupy the least possible space, of a stove and bookcase, and, last of all, of a narrow bunk, Spartan in its simplicity.

The rain was coming down in torrents now, but the lightning still flamed across the sky, illuminating the forest with a pale, unearthly glare, while the thunder pealed and crashed as though the very world itself was splitting in twain. Patricia could hardly think connectedly. The conviction that Kerry was hurt or in danger grew and deepened in her mind till it became unbearable. Lowering Paddy hastily to the floor at once she sprang down from the caravan and, careless of everything save her need to seek and find the man whose safety had suddenly become the one thing had suddenly become the one thing in the world that mattered, she set off running wildly through the

She ran blindly, heedless of the uproar and commotion of the storm around her, toward the spot where she knew the horses had been tethered. But when she reached it it was to find that they were no longer there. There was no sign of them, or of Kerry, but the ground was trampled and churned up as the the trampled and churned up as the the stand between us?" she

Her heart throbbed with sickening apprehension. She covered her face with her hands trying to shut out the thoughts that tortured her. MODISH MITZI

Eleanor's dress is of gray tweed combined with lightweight gray jersey and has a full-length tweed coat to cover it, although she has parked the coat somewhere and isn't showing it to you. However, it's just one of those completely tailored things. Adelaide occupies the center of the stage in a tweed and wool ensemble, the wrap of which combines a cape with a shert jacket most satisfactorily. Polly, with boyish charm, wears a short-jacketed suit of tweed combined also with plain fabric.

Three astonished and respectful young women are about to fall upon Mitzi, demanding the origin and price of her ensemble suit. They have tweed, Mitzi has supertweed—an ingratiating copy of tweed printed on silk. A straight dress, slightly bloused, and a full coat cut to resemble, most deceivingly, those rough-and-ready topcoats for which tweed is especially designed. Silks are printed in all patterns this season, and tweed silk is one of the newest and smartest of their more than 57 varieties.

A Doctor Wrote This about SMITH BONDS

"I have collected the (semi-annual) interest this month on a $500 bond which I bought from you . . . and am enclosing the amount, $17.50, as a first payment on a $100 first mortgage coupon gold bond.

"I really know of no more attractive investment for profes-sional men who have a small surplus each month, but no large amounts to invest at one time, than these bonds offer."

Our Investment Savings Plan enables you to buy a $100, $500 or $1,000 Smith Bond by payment extended over 10 months. You get the full rate of bond interest on every payment. By investing your interest in additional bonds, as this doctor is doing, you can compound your interest at the bond rate. Current offerings pay 7%.

Every Smith Bond is a First Mortgage Bond, secured by modern, income-producing city property and protected by safeguards that have resulted in our record of no loss to any investor in 53 years. For full particulars send your name and address on the form below.

Do You Know Your Income?

You will find making out your income tax report much easier if you have a practical and simple Record Booklet showing at a glance the income from your investments and amount of tax. Such a record may also save you money by reminding you when coupons are due. Failure to clip and reinvest coupons on time means loss of income.

As part of our service to investors we have prepared such a booklet in convenient pocket form, for listing securities to show maturities, rates, denominations and normal tax paid. A copy of this Bond Record Booklet will be sent on request free of charge. The supply is limited and the demand for this book is active.

We therefore advise you to communicate with us immediately asking for a copy to be sent without obligation on your part.

We Recommend the Purchase of North American Common Stock

1—Because The North American Company is one of America's oldest and largest electric public utility holding companies serving large centers.

2-Because dividends have been paid without interruption for more than 16 years.

3-Because the steady growth in the demand for electricity for both industry and home means constantly increasing earnings and income for conservatively managed, ably financed companies such as North American.

Municipal Service Company

Thirty-Year 6% Sinking Fund Collateral Trust Gold Bonds Series A Dated February 1, 1926-Due February 1, 1956

The Corporation agrees to reimburse the resident holders of these bonds, if requested within sixty days after payment in the manner provided in the Trust Indenture, for the personal property tax of the States of Connecticut, Pennsylvania and California not exceeding four mills per annum, of the State of Maryland not exceeding four and one-half mills per annum and of the District of Columbia not exceeding for mills per annum and for the Massachusetts Income Tax on the interest not exceeding 6% of such interest per annum.

Mr. A. E. Fitkin, President of the Company, summarises his letter to us as follows.

Company: Municipal Service Company, incorporated under the laws of Maine, owns, controls or will acquire local operating public utility companies, serving with electric light and power, gas, ice or steam 187 communities in Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia and Georgia. Through these operating companies, 64,790 customers are served, of which 61,814 are electrical, 2,547 gas, and 429 steam service. The Company also operates profitable street railway systems in cities in Pennsylvania and an interurban railway in Ohio. The companies serve an aggregate population of about 1,000,000.

The electric systems of Municipal Service Company have a total installed capacity of 56,888 h.p. and 433 miles of transmission lines. The gas properties include generating plants with a daily capacity of 720,000 cubic feet. The ice plants have a daily capacity of 337 tons. The street railway properties consist of 279 equivalent miles of single track. During the year ended December 31, 1925 there were generated 134,565,662 kwh. of electric energy, and 55,867,000 cubic feet of gas.

Capitalization: After giving effect to present financing.

Security: These Thirty-Year 6% Sinking Fund Collateral Trust Gold Bonds Series A are of the Company, secured by a direct first lien upon the entire common stock of Keystone Public Service Corporation and all stock of York Railways Company owned by Municipal Service Company. They are further secured by a direct lien on the bonds and stocks of other subsidiary companies pledged and deposited under the Collateral Trust 5% Bond Agreement of the Company, subject to the lien thereof. Additional bonds may be issued under conservative restrictions as set forth in the Trust Indenture.

The Trust Indenture will provide for equal semi-annual payments for interest and sinking fund of $202,500 to the Trustee, beginning February 1, 1927, and semi-annually thereafter. The balance remaining after the payment of interest on outstanding Bonds of this issue must be used for the purpose of sinking fund for the retirement of Bonds, which, it is estimated, will retire this entire issue on or before maturity. Additional issues of bonds with a maturity of five years or more will have a sinking fund sufficient to retire the entire issue on or before maturity.

Earnings: Consolidated Statement for 12 months ended Dec. 31, 1925, upon completion of this financing:

Allaman Rity. new Selling of Florida Rail Shares Helps Unsettle Market. Industrials Weak.

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, March 15.—Through a heavy buying movement in the New York Stock Exchange session's last hour applied the brakes to descending quotations and caused from Car, Series, 1989. New York Stock Exchange session's last hour applied the brakes to descending quotations and caused partial recovery, earlier dealings had witnessed such a shrinkage of values that the late support in some directions no more than blunted the incisive wedge of reactionary selling and many shares finished with losses ranging up to 6 points or so. On the other hand, a number of strong spots showed in the speculative list near the close and the scattered gains ran anywhere up to 7 points. The day's turnover approximated 1,550,000 shares.

Heavy selling of Florida railroad shares, inspired by the belief that the land boom in that State was over, had an unsettling effect was loved the benefit of the control o was over, had an unsettling effect on the market as a whole. Stocks of the principal roads operating in Florida broke from 6 to 13 points, but while their weakness precipitated fresh selling in the rails and industrial shares generally with the destrict shares generally share on the market as a whole. Stocks of the principal roads operating in Florida broke from 6 to 13 points, but while their weakness precipital that the result that the real and industrial shares generally with the result that the reactionary movement, which set in last Saturday went considerably further despite the fact that call money was both abundant and cheap, they recovered half or more of their losses before the closing.

Until the last hour, however, little effort was made to stem the selling tide. During that period heavy buying was done in the oils and some standard industrials with good effect. General Petroleum then was bid up to a new high for the year, closing just under the top- and 4 % net higher, and American Can, General Electric, which gained 7 points on the day. General Motors, United States Steel, Cast Iron Pipe—which closed 6 points net higher—and other old Lavorites rallied well.

round for the year; but they also snapped back, closing but 2 to 3 to ints off. Southern Rallway, while less seriously affected by the nervousness of investors, likewise declined. Other railroad shares saturally were affected by that selling movement.

That the industrial list had been thoroughly liquidated, was evidenced by the manner in which certain issues were offered down. Ward Baking "B" and Foundation Company were acutely weak, both selling at new low levels for the year. The former closed 5% off, but the latter recovered 4 points and finished but 2% down. Many other specialties which were under pressure most of the day, including Postum Cereal, international Paper and American Agricultural Chemical sevues came hack well and the nd American Agricultural Chem-al issues, came back well and the st named finished at substantial last named finished at substantial net gains.

More than 100 stocks sold exdividend today. As quotations in virtually every case made allowance for the dividends, the market at times looked weaker than it really was. Much of the selling was done by speculators, on the theory that the market had entered a bear movement. The public has been buying stocks lately. It is known that some large wire houses last week took up more stocks for their clients than ever before in such a clients than ever before in such a brief period of time. The volume of stocks transferred was extraor-

Standing call loans renewed this norning at 414 per cent, a rather emarkable fact in view of the large remarkable fact in view of the large financial operations of the Treasury Department today. That rate ruled all day on the board. However, this afternoon upward of $20,000.-900 was offered in the outside money market at 4 per cent.

In the foreign exchange market Belgian francs dropped precipitately following a corresponding decline in the London market prior to the local opening. The Belgian unit in the London market prior to the local opening. The Belgian unit sank from Saturday's closing of 4.53 ½ cents to 4.05 before support appeared, and with buying from speculators who were short, rallied, to close at 4.18. Sensational reports of exhaustion of stabilization credits were to blame, but were not generally credited in better informed quarters here.

French francs yielded 4½ points.

Sterling was steady, and most other continental rates were only a shade lower, but Norwegian kroner 77 moints. South American currencies moved somewhat lower, also.

RAILWAY BONDS SUFFER MOST UNDER PRESSURE

Seaboard Issues Hit Hardest. Sales! Soft Spot Develops in Utilities Group.

LIBERTYS REMAIN FIRM

New York, March 15 (By the Associated Press).—Erratic fructuations in stock prices today were accompanied by marked unsettlement in the bond market, which failed to maintain the strong tone developed on last week's recovery. Selling pressure was directed mainly against 2 Arg sure was directed mainly against railroad liens, which proved vul-nerable because of the weakness of the carrier shares.

Uneasiness over the Belgian financial situation, occasioned by a precipitate drop of almost half a cent in the franc and reports that loan negotiations in London had struck a snag, caused scattered selling of Belgian bonds, but the declines were limited to a point or less. The present uncertainty is not expected to interfere seriously with arrange-ments for a new international loan, although it may delay the discus-

Or maybe McCarthy would hit it off better socially with Miller Huggins, who apparently is destined to make a thorough inspection of the bottom of the American league well before many days.

McCarthy has one advantage over his rivals. For the past six years he has been working with "raw" ivory and veterans on the down grade. He has managed to make a real ball club out of these mismates most of the time. This was in the American association, which is not the major leagues, but he possesses the knowledge. Hendricks Asserts Adds Star Recruits; Has Shifts in Infield and Outfield.

Return of Carl Mays to Form Is Called a Big Factor.

ORLANDO, Fla. March 15 (By A. P.).—The Cincinnati Reds "surely will be in the pennant fight this year," in the opinion of Manager Jack Hendricks.

Hendricks, in an outline of his prospects for the Associated Press, stresses the addition of several star youngsters to his pitching corps, already regarded as one of the strongest in either major league, besides pointing to infield and outfield shifts which promise to bolster previously weak spots.
"They are saying that our only new strength comes from the addi-tion of Wally Pipp at first base." he said, "but I have seen enough al-ready in the Orlando workouts to convince me that we have a lot of strength besides that.

This means Mays means more to us than any other one factor. That sore arm that handicapped Carl last year is already in great shape. This means we will have four great pitchers to start the season with—Mays, Luque, Donohue and Rixey.

Of course we will not be sure of Luque until he actually pitches in a pennant game after that operation. But Jakie May promises to become a regular this season. Then we have Clyde Day, a promising right-hander drafted from Syracuse. Springer, another rookie pitcher, has been the sensation of our training camp season thus far. thus far.

Harris Backs Archdeacon to Beat Stewart, Rice, McNeely and Bluege in Races Around Paths—Goslin Also Claims to Be Flier.

AMPA, March 15 .- A red hot argument started this morn-ing in the Plant field locker room following the workout as to who is the fastest base runner on the team, and indications are that the matter will be decided on the diamond before the Nats break camp here. And, if this is the case, mutuel machines will be needed to properly record all the wagers anticipated and to regulate the odds.

Manager Harris is willing to back Archdeacon against the field in a race around the whole circuit, but gives Stuffy Stewart the edge when it comes to stealing second from the doorway. BUT whether or not there is a race to a decision, the fact remains that the Nats boast of some mighty speedy rumers, whose lightness of foot is bound to be felt before the coming season ends. Take the case of Stewart for instance. case of Stewart, for instance. Although he is not likely to start any games unless something happens to Bucky Harris, or, perhaps, Ossie Bluege, he should prove mighty handy to have around as a utility base runner.

Last year, while with Birming-ham, Stewart was rated as one of the best pilferers in the Southern-association. He can get away like a flash and knows all of the tricks secured from St. Paul, we have a fast, keen player, a fine lead off middle cushion he changes to a man and a .325 hitter against American association pitching. man of the ring in the hands of a terrific puncher, who did not let up at any time from the opening bell until he had Mike punch drunk and pelpless from his shower of punche in the fourth round and Refere Patsy Haley stopped the uneven af fair.
From the outset it was apparent

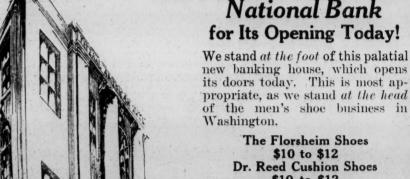

Delaney was intent on making a short job of it. He started in after Mike at the very start and subjected him to a terrific barrage of punches. Except for the third round McTigue dld not show anything, but in that frame he found Jack with two hard rights to the head. Possibly Me rigue earned an even break in that roun! but it was his only flash of ability. Deliney simply would not be de-

With practice football games in prospect for April, it won't be long before July 4 will harbor a few gridiron fixtures.

If this column should be asked to name the big league manager with the toughest year ahead its vote would be cast without hesitation and with individual unanimity for Miller Huggins, who is doing his best to find the combination for the assorted lot of ball players that he has at his disposal in St. Petersburg.

at his disposal in St. Petersburg.

The critics evidently, and this includes the resident as well as the traveling representatives, have reached the conclusion that it would be a waste of time and telegraph tolls to burden the wires with bright pictures of the Yankees' future. Instead they are future. Instead they are sharpening up the verbal "razz-berries" by bringing them into use during the training camp

Huggins is already giving evidence of the mental and evidence of the mental and spiritual welts that the criti-cism has raised. The man-ager of what purports to be the Yankees insists with considerable indignation that what he has under his command is a ball club and not merely Babe Ruth and a lot of awe struck youngsters following in his

The correspondents appear to file these optimistic vaporings with their tongues in their cheeks. Unless the Yankees run entirely contrary to form this is certain to be remember-ed in the life of Miller Huged in the life of Miller Hug-gins as the year of the "razz-berry," and he will find it the most unpleasant that he has ex-perienced since he became the manager of Col. Ruppert's checkbook, which is no longer able to lure the seasoned ball-player away from the rival owner.

HUGGINS is by no means unfamiliar with the "razzberry." He became acquainted with it in St. Louis acquainted with it in St. Louis and there was some slight surprise on this account when he was plucked to guide the Ruppertian fountain pen. He has yet to experience the Gotham brand. The New York critic and cash customer is filled with none of the home town sentiments, which sometimes temper words and actions in the provinces. Fort Benning, Ga., March 15 .-Although touched up freely enough, "Lefty" Carnes was tight in the pinches and hurled the Fort Benning nine to a 6 to 2 victory over the Quantico Marines here today. BATE FORCE, SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

The Marines got two runners on base in each the first, second, third, fourth and sixth innings, but the necessary punch to send them over the plate was lacking. Not until the eighth did the Marines score when a couple of pinch hitters came through with timely bingles.

The Doughboys grabbed a single tally in the second, added two in the fifth, another in the sixth and then put the game safely in the win column with another pair in the eighth. .359 336 386

At second base McManus, of the Browns, is the logical choice, if we allow due credit for all-round service to his team. In fielding he made more assists and handled more total chances than any other second baseman. At bat, he made the most hits, piled up the most total bases and was responsible for the greatest number of runs.

(Former Pitcher New York Giants.)

CHARLEY HOFF, the Norwegian all-round athlete, who specializes in the pole vault and has been making new world indoor marks in this event with monotonous regularity, has challenged Harold Osborn's supremacy as the world's greatest all-round athlete. Osborn won this title at the olympic games. While both these athletes naturally specialize in one event—Osborn in the running high jump—they both are proficient in the running and weight events.

The meeting today of these two star athletes will leave the winner on as high a plane in the public fancy as Jim Thorpe in his "balmy days," when all New York turned out to welcome him home from the olympic games in Stockholm.

New York, March 15 (By A. P.).—
The cotton market was quiet toda and fluctuations were comparativel narrow. After selling off to 18.12 a the start. July contractors rallied to 18.27 and closed at 18.25 compared with 18.28 at the close Saturday. The general market closed steady, net of points lower to 6 points higher.

The opening was barely steady at a decline of 4 to 11 points. Active months showed net losses of about 8 to 16 points in the early trading. Selling developed on the relatively easy Liverpool cables and bearish sension that the configuration of late last week had left the technical position easier. Houses with foreign trade connections bought new crop months at the decline, however, while there was some trade buying of old crop positions to fix prices, which combined with further covering, soon iteadied the market. After selling off o 18.68 for May and 17.48 for October, rices rallied to 18.74 for May and 7.55 for October in late trading. The lose was within 2 or 3 points of the est.

close was within 2 or 3 points of the best.

Comment on the political news from abroad was unsettling and bearish sentiment was promoted by reiterated reports that some of the Southern yarn spinners were curtailing their production. On the other hand, reports of unseasonably lower temperatures in the belt tended to emphasize the uncertainties before the start of the coming crop, and with offerings light, it did not require much buying to hold the market.

Private cables attributed the decline in Liverpool to hedge selling, local and continental liquidation.

Japanese are discontented with today's solution, because they believe that when men with the forti-tude of the Samurai gave renuncla-tion it should be to attain some higher goal. And the Japanese seem not to be convinced that today's sacrifice was for the furtherance of the larger and lasting aims of the league, but rather for the smaller purpose of settling a quarrel between a few members of the league.

Will Brazil adhere to her determination to veto Germany? Will Spain, angered at the failure of her campaign to win a permanent seat, resign from the league? These two questions were being anxiously asked tonight.

The secret session of the council which ended at 8:30 o'clock this evening again struggled with the problem in its entirety, and the members separated not too optimis-tic in appearance.

M. Briand said, "It is too early to say we have arrived at a defi-nite result." Dr. Benes remarked. "The seas are still buffeting us."

WADSWORTH URGES NEW YORK SYSTEM FOR PENSIONS HERE

Seeks to Amend Capper's Mothers Bill by Abolishing Washington Plan.

CONSIDERATION BLOCKED

Local Welfare Leaders Prefer No Legislation to That of Miss Loeb.

The New York plan of mothers' pensions, which Sophie Irene Loeb and her Child Welfare association Grand Jury Exonerates E. J. have decided the District must have. found its way to the Senate floor

Senator Wadsworth, of New York, introduced it in the form of an amendment to the bill sponsored by Senator Capper, of Kansas, which embodies the Washington plan.

Consideration of the bill was deferred, however, when Senator Dale of Verment denied unanimous conof Vermont, denied unanimous consent for this purpose.

Model Law Sought.

Local social welfare leaders have than have a large part of the $100,-000, which is proposed for a pensions fund here, expended in its administration by a separate board, they would rather not have any legislation on the subject.

The New York social lobbyists contend, however, that a model law must be prescribed for Washington in order that they will have prestige in supporting it upon other states.

in order that they will have pressige in supporting it upon other states. Several influential senators be-sides Senator Capper have assured local interests that they will fight for the Washington plan. Because of the length of debate anticipated it is likely that it will be sometime before the Senate considers the bill.

Miss Marks Honored At Veterans' Bureau

Back after a ten weeks' absence, aue to illness. Miss Stella Marks, assistant to Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, of the veterans' bureau, received a very warm welcome not alone from her immediate associates in the bureau, but from official life generally and from vetercial life generally and from veterans whose cause she has aided in her work. Her desk was banked high with flowers yesterday, bearing cards of members of both the Senate and the House as well as of officials of the local posts. One piece which held her interest and brought a suggestion of moisture to was the same as that taken in the robbery in January, 1924, when thieves broke into the store during the Sunday holidays.

S. A. Misell, manager of the store, discovered the robbery when he entered the store yesterday morning. The thieves had chiseled the dial off of the safe and after taking the money closed the safe and it locked automatically. Police believe the same men who robbed the store in 1924 were responsible for the last robbery.

Charles A. Pfender, who died February 17, left an estate valued at more than $50,000, according to the petition for letters testamentary flied yesterday in probate court by his widow, Mrs. Mary E. Pfender, the sole heir. The estate includes the premises at 1816 N street northwest,

Reserve Officers Attend School Here

Reserve officers of the nine corps areas of the army and Lieut, R. E. B. McKenney, president of the Re-serve Officers association of the District, who represents the Third Corps area, assembled here yesterday for instruction dealing with training, development and organi-zation of the reserves. Lieut. Col. E. H. Bullis, military intelligence, reserve, is in charge of the course and Lieut. Col. Leroy F. Smith is

The officer.

The officers will serve four weeks as members of the general staff. Those attending are Col. James T. Potter, Col. George S. Minnis, Col. William M. Wilder, Col. BY DALE'S OBJECTION E. B. Bassett. Col. George S. Binck-ley. Lieut. Col. Stephen A. Park, Lieut. Col. William R. Brooks, Maj. Alfred G. Ranney.

This is probably the first case of its kind to reach the grand jury in this jurisdiction. An alleged defective gas stove was the direct cause of Mrs. Johnson's death.

Corporal John Wallo, alias Lewis Wallo, United States marine corps, personal gardener to Maj. Gen. John A. LeJeune, and Homer Cook, a marine now in Haiti, were indicted separately on a statutory charge involving a 15-year-old girl.

The grand jury ignored a charge of false pretenses against Nick Ioanou, who was alleged to have been selling parking and immunity privileges to pushcart peddilers.
The names of other persons who were indicted or exonerated will be found in the daily legal record of

Directed Not Guilty

Justice Wendell P. Stafford in criminal court yesterday denied a motion for a directed verdict of not guilty for the defendants in the Shields-Johnson conspiracy case.

In this case James F. Johnson, former attorney in the prohibition unit, and Daniel J. Shields, politician, of Johnstown, Pa., are charged with conspiring to defraud the United States. It is alleged that Shields paid Johnson $250 to use his influence to obtain a permit to operate a brewery for the Conemaugh Products Co. of Johnstown The trial will be resumed this morn-

The proceedings were begun by W. Gwynn Gardiner, manager of the

the court to handle the business affairs of the organization in place of Brosnan. The latter was opposed by his five sisters.

After Brosnan had been enjoined from handling the association's affairs, and after he had been released from jail where he had been rendence from jail where he had been rendence certain assets of the association, he sued in the name of the association to have the court set aside all its previous orders considered. aside all its previous orders con-cerning it. The association, through Thomas, filed suit against Gardiner for $250,000 damages and charged that his management had been detrimental to its interests. Because of the alleged interference by Brosnan, Thomas and Mrs. Avery in the affairs of the association, Gardiner sought the contempt rule. The trial will be continued today.
